Director's Note

This show has been a Holiday favorite ever since Edmund Gwenn made the role of Kris Kringle famous in the 1947 film. The themes and ideas of this story still ring true in 2012. Possibly even more so. With holiday shopping being the biggest source of income for most retail stores, the gimmicks and advertisements to get you into the store and spending money often allow us to forget that the Christmas Season is not about who is having the best sale, or where you can get the most bang for your buck. The Christmas season is really about family, friends and good will to others. This show reminds us that even if you are a bag lady shopping for presents in the dumpster or if you are the wealthiest of people shopping at the most expensive store, it's the thought that counts and not the price tags. I sincerely hope you enjoy the show as the cast and crew and I have put in many long hours of rehearsal to give you this special gift this Christmas. We hope this production brings a smile to your face and a warmth to your heart as you watch a little girl discover her imagination and her faith in things that common sense tells her aren't real, and as a jolly old man fights for his freedom to spread good cheer and make the wishes of children the world over come true. Thank you for coming and enjoy the show!
